

Tea Party At Midnight

Today on our news, there is a breaking story to report. The British Colonists are out of control. They are trying to punish Britain for taking their tea. The colonists were very angry. Around midnight they decided to dress up like Indians and boarded the British ship in the Boston Harbor. The colonists unloaded all the tea and threw it in the bay. No one on the ship was injured, but the cargo of tea was a complete loss. The colonists then left the ship and disbanded. Further details will be reported as they come in.
