The Colorful Pageantry of Commencement

Academic dress in the United States has been determined by standards set by an intercollegiate commission in 1893. At this time, three types of gowns and three types of hoods were adopted for bachelor's, master's, and doctor's degrees, respectively. The square caps are the same except that the doctor's may be made of velvet and may have a tassel of gold. The bachelor's gown is made of black worsted material and may be distinguished by its pointed sleeves. The master's gown, often made of silk, has closed sleeves (the arm coming through a slit at the elbow), which are square at the end and extend well below the knee. The hoods are lined with silk with the color or colors of the college or university granting the degree and are trimmed with velvet of the color that represents the degree. The department in which the major work was done governs the proper color of the border.

If more than one degree is held, the gown and hood of the higher or highest degree are naturally worn. Color of the more common departments of learning are as follows:

Arts, Letters, Humanities.....	White
Business Administration, Commercial Science.....	Drab
Economics.....	Copper
Education.....	Light Blue
Fine Arts.....	Brown
Library Science.....	Lemon
Music.....	Pink
Oratory, Speech.....	Silver Grey
Physical Education.....	Sage Green
Science.....	Golden Yellow
Social Science.....	Citron
