

You make an inference when you use clues from the story to figure out something that the author doesn't tell you.